Sprint 1 Burndown

From the chart we can notice that we started to finish stories in the middle of the sprint and the major reason is we spent the first few days doing some setup and learning. And after gathering the required resources we started to finish stories in a steady velocity.

In sprint 2 we will try to start as early as possible and remain at the same velocity with sprint 1 because without considering the time we spent on setting up and learning, the velocity is healthy and allows us to finish the stories on time.
